MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 3.—The world's bicycle record for 1,000 miles, held by T. A. Edge of London, Eng., and made over an ordinary turppike road, has been broken by A. A. Hansen, who finished his long ride early today and succeeded in covering the distance in 22 hours, 44 minutes. The time made by Edge was 105 hours, 19 minutes, 11 May be questioned whether Hansen will be accorded in all quarters the world's record, as he rode over a boulevard while Edge made his ride over an ordinary road. At the same time it is questionable whether Hansen's path was at all superior to the hard macadam of the English country road. Hansen had one very bad bridge to elimb twice in every forty-mile trip and there were spots in the path that would disgrace a wagon road. The Minneapolis rider finished at 2:54 this morning, after having been actually in the saddle seventy-three hours. In order to make the thing sure as to distance Hansen was sent another twenty miles after completing his ride.

in hand. Mud Spoils Grand Circuit Meet.

COLUMRUS, O., Aug. 3.—Racing in the mud was the feature of the Grand circuit meeting today. After three heats had been run a heavy thunder shower came up and drenched the track. The home stretch was a sea of mud for a short time, but the 1½ corwd wated patiently intil it had dried sufficiently to permit the horses to go. It was 5 o'clock before racing could be resumed and two events were concluded before darkness intervened. The last four heats were iong miles and considering the heavy track the time was very fast.

Annias won the 2:07 pace in straight theats and apparently without effort. The Cleveland horse was favorite in the betting, but Mbss Logan was heavily backed on the strength of her winning at Cleveland last week, even after it was certain Ananias would win. The first heat was paced before the rain and there was not one of the horses in the big field that could catch Ananias. The judges thought James had not driven Charile B out and the gelding was set back to twelfth place after finishing second.

There were twelve starters in the 2:16 pace, two heats of which were paced before the rain. Harry O was fayorite in the betting, but had a formdable competitior in Nerva Patchen, Harry O ginished eleventh in the first and then woff in consecutive heats. Nerva Patchen was driven out in the first heat, but gave the favorite a sharp brush at the finish in the next heats. In the last heat Volution took to the mood at the pole in the stretch and ploughed around the bunch, beating Egozon out of the second place.

The 2:14 trot was postponed until tomorrow, when an effort will be made to clear up the week's program.

The Saints are certainly a fast lot of players. Dad Fisher is the best all-round man on the diamond today. He can play any position, but shines especially at first and as a pitcher. He will probably pitch in the game here. If he pitches Decker will play first base. Decker has no equal at first and when he played with Chicago in 1896-97 it was at first base that he played his best game, but he was only allowed to Bluffs.

A free-for-all 10½ yard race was won by Ross of Council Bluffs.

Final Race for the Seawanhaka Cup Turns Out Most Unsatisfactorily.

SHOAL WATER STOPS THE CONSTANCE

Race is Protested by Owner of Defeated Yacht, But is Awarded to Canadian Yacht by the Committee.

DORVAL, Que., Aug. 3 .- Today's race. which was to have been the final one for the Seawanhaka cup between the Constance and the Glencairn, turned out most unsatisfactorily, for Skipper Duggan had to sail his boat over the course alone, while Mr. Craig of the Constance, after protesting the race through having taken ground with its centerboard in maneuvering on the starting line, had the Constance brought down from the course off Point Claire to the St. Lawrence Yacht club house at Dorval,

There was a fresh breeze in the morning but later in the day when the hour for the start arrived, at 1:25, the breeze was only a very moderate one and had shifted more to the south.

The starting whistle blew at 3:05. The Glencairn crossed the line at 3:05:15, but the Constance did not cross, having struck the ground while maneuvering for the start. Then followed Mr. Crane's verbal protests. and deal with the protest afterward. By this time the Glencairn was well up the first leg, and a small yacht was sent up to instruct it to complete the course. The Glencairn accordingly proceeded and with the moderate wind which was blowing finished the control of the control of the course of th

In the first instance the course was sailed two miles, but the wind bauled so that it blew nearly across the ourse. I instructed Mr. Crane to protest for me and to request a windward and return course. The sailing committee ac-ceeded and Prof. Capper logged the course from the starting line to windward, a little ver one mile, when he got into shoal water and had to stop. The sailing committee then moved the starting line inshore and sent the Monaco to the windward for the mark. The line was so far inshore that the Cor stance struck her board twice during the maneuvers from the start, and finally just as the starting whistle sounded ran aground. I then recalled the Constance and protested he race to the sailing committee offered, if they would recall the Glencairn, to move the starting line out shore and sail he race on the course as it existed. This was declared impossible and I withdrew the out the following statement: The course was set southwest by south from Upper Dorval light, two miles to windward. On the return of the committee boat Mr. Crane protested that the course was not due windward, the wind by this time having urned southerly. The course was reset, Mr. Post, the representative of the Seawanhaka club, having been invited to assist the members of the committee in resetting. It being found that the course was slightly short of the mile and a half, a verbal protest was made by the Seawanhaka repreon account of shoal water for maneuvering around the windward buoy. The sailing committee proposed to reduce the course Floyd won, Czarowitz second, Aunt Mary third. Time: 1:15.

Third race, selling, six and one-half furlongs: Harry Duke won, Loving Cup secloses: The committee proposed to reduce the course from a mile and a half to one mile, but a protest was immediately intimated by Mr. Post. The committee, therefore, changed the starting line closer in to Point Clare and and the starting gun at 3:05. Glencairn not cross the line. Subsequently Mr. Post, accompanied by Mr. Crane, came on board the committee boat and repeated to the chairman of the sailing committee that after the first gun the Constance had taken ground with her center board in maneuvering for the line. Notice was then given of a formal protest in writing, which, it was stated, would be entered later.

The salling committee is meeting to night to decide the protest. The question has been raised as to whether the Constance, not having crossed the starting line, and, therefore, not having been in the race, has the right to protest it.

Race is Given to Glencairn.

The written protest of Mr. Post was to the a proper one for the boats to sail on. The sailing committee decided that the race should be awarded to the Glencairn.

SEMI-FINALS IN TENNIS TOURNEY.

Davis Will Probably Meet Whitman in the Final Round.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 3.—In the Long Island lawn tennis tournament Allen, the Yale champion, played a hard and fast four-set match against J. D. Pell, the Columbia player who defeated the veteran Larned yesterday in such a sensational manner. The Yale champion finally pulled out the set at 8-6 by clever line side passes. Pell played all through the next set and when at 7-5 Allen took the third and fourth sets, but the latter was four times within one stroke of the match before he scored the deciding point.

The veteran Bob Huntington was defeated by Malcolm Whitman, the national champion, in three straight sets. The only match of the morning was that between Dwight Davis, the Harvard expert, and the Longwood club crack, Alfred Codman. The former won rather easily in four sets, as the Bostonian had a streak of brilliancy, and took the second set at 6-4.

It was evident, however, that Davis was not obliged to strain very hard in order to win a victory and that he is saving himself all he can, as there is no doubt that he will face Whitman in the final round.

The match between Lee Ware, the exchampion, and the speedy Harvard player, Holcomb Ward, that was started in the morning, lasted until nearly 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Ware won the match after nearly three hours' continuous struggle. The results of these matches is that Whitman and Allen will meet in the semi-final round tomorrow and Ware and Davis are drawn for the other half of the same round. In the afternoon two matches in the doubles were played. The veteran team, composed of Bob and Ford Huntington, met defeat at the hands of Mac Whitman and Lee Ware, Despite the fact that the Larned brothers were prime favorties over J. A. Allen, the Yale champlon, and R. McKitt-Lee Ware. Despite the fact that the Larned brothers were prime favorities over J. A. Allen, the Yale champion, and R. McKittrick, the Harvard man, who were paired against them, the collegians won the match, taking three of the four sets played.

The elder Larned was again seen at a disadvantage today and it is very evident that he is far from his usual form.

Arrangements are being made for a mixed doubles in which the women may take part, the matches to be played on Saturday. The scores of the day's play follow:

Championship singles, second round: H. D. Whitman defeated R. P. Huntington, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4; J. A. Allen defeated J. D. Pell. 8-6, 6-7, 6-1, 6-1; Lee Ware defeated H. Ward, 4-6, 6-1, 1-6, 7-5, 8-6; D. F. Davis defeated Alfred Codman, 6-2, 4-6, 6-0, 7-5.

LOCKED UP IN A SALOON John Hulsenmp Shut in a Drink Dis-

When John Huiscamp, a typical wayfaring person, found himself in Ed Miller's saloon, Ninth and Dodge streets, at 2 o'clock in the morning with the lights turned out he did not dare to move for fear of waking up in the midst of a sweet dream.

The bartender had gone home, leaving Huiscamp asleep at a table. He had dozed off, looking wistfully into a beer glass, devising some scheme to get it filled up without paying. And now the whole saloon was his. For years Huiscamp had longed for the sweet opportunity of the present moment.

On the shelves behind the bar stood countless bottles containing that which Huis-camp loved best on earth. There was whisky that cost as high as $1.15 a gallon, but not much valuable time was lost in idle cogitation. Huiscamp made a rush for the bar and drank the best brand of Kentucky distilled from a "schooner." When he had taken as much as he could carry and even more he made up a big parcel, consisting of bottles of whisky, gin and stray flasks of chartreuse, brandy and stray flasks of chartreuse, brandy and port. OFFICERS ROUND UP TRAMPS

Gather in a Choice Collection of Hard Citizens Who Are Public

A congress of tramps, who have been holding high carnival in the outskirts of the city for the last few weeks, was effectually broken up Thursday night when the police discovered and raided a temporary rendezvous, placing fourteen of the vagrants under arrest.

People living in the vicinity of Krug's rewery and the railroad yards near Secnd and William streets have made repeated omplaints at the police station that a small | vidual depositor. army of tramps frequently pitch camp in the neighborhood and annoy all the resieffect that he protested the course as not dents within a radius of half a mile. It is a veritable hobos' Bohemia, they complain, where the members abandon themselves to feasting, wassail and turmult.

Every night a different camping ground is chosen, preference being shown for localities along the railroad yards. About dusk a motley assembly of vagrants gathers from all parts of the city. A dozen of the number are cripples and they are delegated to beg provisions and drink for the reason that infirmities secure a readier response from charity. Beds of hay are made in the boxcars and small fires are kindled along by the water company, located on the ocean the tracks until the scene resembles a soldier's bivouac. Food is warmed over the fires, huge cans of foaming lager are passed round, the vagrants break out into song and the next day the police station is flooded

He would not answer questions and when the officers attempted to lead him to the patrol wagen he balked.

It was only Officer Dan Baldwin's wrestling prowess that enabled the patrolmen to handcuff the lunatic and take him to the station. Baldwin secured the famous half-Nelson and hiplock holds on the man, pinioning him to the ground until the other officers slipped the steel cuffs over his wrists. The trip to the station was a struggle be tween the maniac and the men who had him in charge. He writhed and twisted in the bottom of the wagon, often breaking at Las Vegas and will make extensive free from the three strong patrolmen who preparations were astride him. Luxurious Summer Resort that an Ingenious Woman is Running.

One woman has succeeded in evolving a novelty in the way of a summer hotel which has passed successfully through the test of two summers. The accommodations might safely be enlarged to twice their present limits, but as an increase of the limited quarters would interfere with the idea which has brought success to the scheme, she will probably content herself with raising the prices. They are high force for Frederick Hall. Yesterday Hall enough now, for economy was not a feature testified that Schroeder was a friend of of her plans. She knew the value of novelty and set out to supply something which the summer sojourner had never before been able to find. There was nothing new in the idea of the elaborate summer hotel. That had already been tried and was, any how, beyond her means. The summer board ing house with its supposed features of farm life, fresh vegetables, eggs and milk was too old a story to promise much profit. But the country house was something unknown, They Have Resulted in a Steady to the field of summer resorts until this place was opened. The luxurious life of a well kept country house was something accessible only to those who were invited or had th fortune necessary to have such a place of their own. Beautiful grounds, horses and carriages of distinctly modish character, servants in livery, a handsome and tasteful house, with complete freedom from any atmosphere of the hotel on the one hand or the country boarding house on the otherthat was the sort of establishment which this woman decided to keep. She was able remedy for backache, dizziness, sleeplessto rent for a term of years in a fashionable region hear New York a country house large enough to answer her purpose. The gounds and appurtenances were that their friends may know what to use people. The gounds and appurtenances were as handsome as any that belonged to the millionaires in the neighborhood. The prices for entertainment were put at a figure which made it possible to keep up the house as it had been kept. Precautions were taken not to admit persons who might not be congenial. No comfort or luxury that was char- of an annoying nature. I secured some of acteristic of the place during the days of its' private possession was omitted. Many of the old servants were retained. The same butler presided every night at the half-past 7 o'clock dinner, which is served now quite as it was formerly. The same coachman is in charge of the stables and the grounds retain their present well kept and attractive appearance through the efforts of the same head gardener who used to be in charge of them. A steam launch on a small lake near the house is as accessible as when the former owner used it, and the men who go daily to the city travel to and from the station in a coach which in every detail of its equipment is as smart as any in the neighborhood. Life moves in this summer resort with the smoothness and ease that luxury gives. The size of the place is such that the guests may wander about in freedom without the danger of seeing more than they want of one another. Such places are not likely to increase much in number. The woman who thought of this one had especial fitness to make it successful, and her own acquaintance insured her at the outset gusets enough to warrant so unusual a venture. It is expensive-so very expensive that persons might take less pretentious houses for what a suite of rooms cost in this house. But they would not get then the particular luxury which this particular landlady sought to provide-the luxury of life in a country house which in its most enjoyable estate always seems to rest on a basis of accumulated millions. Knew What He Wanted.
